Privacy Notice - How we use your Information

The Printing Charity collects and processes personal data relating to its beneficiaries to help us provide them a service. The organisation is committed to being transparent about how it collects and uses that data and to meeting its data protection obligations.

What information does The Printing Charity collect?

The organisation collects and processes a range of information about you. This may include:

- your name, address and contact details, including email address and telephone number, date of birth and gender;
- details of your financial situation including any income and assets;
- details about where you live;
- details of your work history;
- details about your family and/or spouse;
- information regarding your medical, health conditions, mobility and social factors;
- details of your bank account;
- information about your marital status, next of kin, dependants and emergency contacts;

The organisation may collect this information in a variety of ways. For example, data might be collected through application forms, supporting documents you may provide, telephone calls and letters.

The organisation will only seek information from third parties with your consent (for example, contacting your GP).

Data will be stored securely on our financial accounting software – Sage, our CRM – Salesforce, and in hard copies filed in restricted access locked cabinets. Data may also be stored within our email system if we correspond with you in that way.

Why does The Printing Charity process personal data?

The organisation needs to process data to ensure that applicants are eligible to receive financial assistance or housing from the Charity and to meet its obligations to the service user. For example, it needs to process your data to consider you for financial assistance, or to enter into a Licence to Occupy agreement to reside in our sheltered homes, and then to ensure you are receiving the full service to which you are entitled.

In some cases, the organisation needs to process data to ensure that it is complying with its legal obligations. For example, it is required to check that you are a resident of the UK.

In other cases, the organisation has a legitimate interest in processing personal data before, during and after the relationship. Processing service user data allows the organisation to:

- maintain accurate and up-to-date records and contact details (including details of who to contact in the event of an emergency for residents of the Sheltered Homes);
- monitor and report on its performance in relation to its charitable objectives;

Some special categories of personal data, such as information about health or medical conditions, is processed to allow the Charity to adequately assess the suitability of the service user prior to receiving the Charity's services.

Who has access to data?

Your information may be shared with other Printing Charity employees whose access is necessary in the performance of their role.

The organisation will only share your data with third parties when we have your explicit consent, for example, to obtain medical assessments or information from other charities and organisations in respect of any application you make to us

The Charity uses Salesforce as its CRM and has agreements in place with Salesforce in respect to the storage of your information. Salesforce operates under the EU-US Privacy Shield and has appropriate protection in place for any data held outside of the European Economic Area (EEA).

The Charity will not transfer your data to countries outside the EEA.

How does The Printing Charity protect data?

The Printing Charity takes the security of your data seriously and has internal policies and controls in place to try to ensure that your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, and is not accessed except by its employees in the performance of their duties. All hard copies are kept in a locked cupboard, and only accessed by staff members to whom access to the data is necessary for performance of their roles. All electronic information is kept securely on Sage and on Salesforce. Access to this information is also restricted. Home Managers also keep limited resident information in locked cupboards with restricted access.

For how long does the organisation keep data?

The organisation will hold residents' personal data for 12 months after the Licence to Occupy has ended. The organisation will hold other service-user records indefinitely to enable due-diligence in case of reapplication and accurate reporting.

Your rights

You have a number of rights. You can:

- access and obtain a copy of your data on request;
- require the organisation to change incorrect or incomplete data;
- require the organisation to delete or stop processing your data, for example where the data is no longer necessary for the purposes of processing; and
- object to the processing of your data where the organisation is relying on its legitimate interests as the legal ground for processing.

If you would like to exercise any of these rights, please contact Tabitha Northrup, Head of Compliance & Central Services, at tabitha@theprintingcharity.org.uk or email sar@theprintingcharity.org.uk. We will need to verify your identity before we can act upon your request.

If you believe that the organisation has not complied with your data protection rights, you can complain to the Information Commissioner. Please visit <https://ico.org.uk/concerns> for more information, or telephone 0303 123 1113 for advice.

What if you do not provide personal data?

The data requested from you is necessary for the Charity to determine the right type of support for each individual. If the data is not provided, the Charity may not be able to give any assistance.

Automated decision-making

Decisions are not based on automated decision-making. Policies are in place to ensure that each application is treated fairly, consistently and in accordance with the individual's needs.
